PROJECT:

Fashion Studio:

My full-stack development project, a fashion studio management system, leverages the power of Django and Python. The platform encompasses user authentication, product catalog management, booking, client database, inventory tracking, and financial management. The front-end built with HTML, CSS, and Bootstrap, offers a user-friendly interface for both studio owners and clients, while the Django back-end provides robust data handling. This project showcases my proficiency in full-stack development, combining my knowledge of front-end technologies with the efficiency and scalability of Python and Django.
